It is a remake of Telugu movie Jalsa. The soundtrack of this film was composed by Aadesh Shrivastav. The film was released on 11 July 2009. Synopsis Shakti Kapoor (Paresh Rawal) loves to be in the limelight. He is from an affluent family and he loves to show off his money. His father (Raza Murad) has a small business and his mother (Sonam Kapoor) works in a college as a professor. Shakti's father is a conservative man and he hates to see their lifestyle. He wanted to get them married off soon to someone of their kind. Shakti and his family live with his maternal aunt (Sameera Reddy). His mother teaches all the time in college. The movie starts with a car accident wherein the elder brother of a friend Shakti's mother teaches goes out of the car. Shakti's father and mother initially believe that it is Shakti's friend who is driving the car and they are both safe. But when they do a post-mortem on the body of the driver, they find that he is Shakti's friend and it was Shakti who was driving the car. His family wants to throw Shakti out of the house. Shakti is embarrassed for being caught and sends his mother to teach as a professor in a college and his father to run the small business. But Shakti also falls in love with Sameera Reddy (Soni), the daughter of a friend of his family, who wants to play tennis and is a rising tennis star. Shakti tries to woo her, but she doesn't approve of his father's profession. After few years, Shakti is called for an interview at IBM. His mother doesn't believe that he can't get a good job as he has been to college and is a talented person. Shakti promises her that he will do his best and will take care of his family. He is hired for the interview and the head of the company is impressed by Shakti. Shakti gets a position in his company and starts earning good money. Shakti and Sameera Reddy both fall in love. One day when Sameera is playing tennis, Shakti comes and makes an entry in her life. He drives an expensive car and is very fond of flashy and expensive gadgets. He loves showing off his family's wealth and wants Sameera to be impressed with his lifestyle. Shakti's mother finally sees the light 82157476af
